ONE MORE THING: Wahana Estate is one of the biggest coffee estates in the region & happens to also have one of the biggest hearts. These guys are doing just about everything they can to support their farmers – housing, free healthcare & education, a safety program & a support centre. Wahana also put a lot of love into their natural processing (which is tricky in the Sumatra rainy season). Cherries are spread on shaded patios for 2 days, then put in mechanical dryers to mimic hot dry nights over a 2 week period. We're feeling the love for this fruity & sweet natural!
