ONE MORE THING: They say light comes from darkness, and that is no more true than the bright summery notes of our next Tanzanian coffee. The Isende Farmer's Business Group boasts over 90 members who individually harvest the ripe cherry from their own small parcels of land, take it to their group-owned washing station where the skin and mucilage are removed, and the coffee is fermented overnight. The final product is bright and bursts with notes of raspberry cordial & sweet candied lemon, filling us with memories of hot summer days sipping on cordial and ice blocks.
