ONE MORE THING: A star component of our recent Sugarplum blend, Vinoso is singing on espresso, and tasty on filter too. It's from a new wet mill in the region of Ayarza, named after the legendary crater lake Laguna de Ayarza, which was formed around 20,000 years ago by two collapsed volcanos. And while we're talking names, 'Vinoso', refers to the coffee's processing style, which entails a tightly controlled, extended fermentation, resulting in juicy, winery flavours. Spro good to showcase this new mill's quality and Vinoso's exciting taste profile.
