ONE MORE THING: Heroes series is our damn special stuff, and that's just what El Cedro by Angelino Landaverde is. It's a drool-worthy pacamara variety, which goes a long way to explaining the punchy floral and citrus notes. Exceptional natural processing is a hallmark too, with a meticulous 14 day drying program. El Cedro also punches above its weight on the environmental front. There are around 3000 shade trees on this 4 hectare farm, providing the cool conditions to help turn out dense ripe red cherry, and also provide a biologically diverse oasis. Punch in!
